Dear Cape Families,

The Cape Henlopen School District is excited to announce a full return to in-person learning for 2021-2022 school year! We will follow all safety guidelines in place for Delaware schools at the time of school returning in September and will communicate those guidelines with families as more information becomes available. The District will not be conducting full remote learning or hybrid classes/schedules.

The District anticipates the need for some students to have an alternate educational experience. While we are not offering a remote learning/hybrid option, we will make Supportive Instruction (Homebound) available to students who meet the criteria and are approved through the District's process. If you believe your child has a medical or mental health condition that could prevent them from attending, please use this link to inquire about the next steps.

Supportive Instruction will be asynchronous (not live streamed or with a live teacher). A tutor would be assigned after school hours for approximately 3 or more hours per week (depending on needs and grade level). Click here to see the state regulation for Supportive Instruction.

Again, Cape Henlopen is looking forward to welcoming you and your child back to full in-person learning in September. If you have any questions, please contact your child's school.

Sincerely,

Bob Fulton
Superintendent
